RIVERSIDE CEMETERY: PART OF NORTH AMERICA’S DESIGNED LANDSCAPE LEGACY

Riverside Cemetery was proudly added to The Cultural Landscape Foundation’s What’s Out There® database. Spanning over two centuries of American landscape design, the database is searchable by landscape name, locale, designer, category, type, and style.

“The goal of this searchable, easy-to-navigate database is to raise public awareness of the rich diversity and inter-connectedness of our shared designed landscape heritage.”

“Cultural Landscapes provide a sense of place and identity, mapping our relationship with the land over time, and are part of our national heritage and each of our lives.”

Riverside Cemetery is categorized on the database as a “Designed Landscape” – a landscape that was consciously designed or laid out by a landscape architect, master gardener, architect or horticulturist according to design principles.
